

JAPANESE ARE USING DRUGS AND DECEIT TO UNDERMINE CHINA, STUDENTS HERE SAY

With Opium Traffic Barred, Morphine and Other Drugs Are Being Sold.

American Goods Delayed in Shipment to Favor Japanese Merchants.

By JACK ROYCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—Drugs and deceit are among the methods Japan is using to undermine China and her people and to get a hold on the Chinese trade which America will never be able to break, according to statements of Chinese students, coming to this country for college education, to army and navy officers today.

The opium traffic barred by the Chinese law, which was secured to by nearly every civilized nation, is being rebuffed in Shanghai and several other provinces by morphine and other drugs, they asserted. These drugs, they stated, were introduced among the Chinese people by Japanese under the guise of "medicine" represented to be the latest and most wonderful discoveries of modern science.

The usual method employed in fostering the habits, the students told the officers, was for a Japanese, or a Chinese hired by them, to collect a crowd in the streets by lanterns or beating of drums. Then the alleged physician addressed the crowd, declaring that science had now produced a remedy which would cure any ache, pain or ail, and even banish sadness and low spirits.

The usual procedure, the students said, they said to ask those with aches or pains to step forward and be treated free. If any responded the Japanese administered a dose of morphine or other pain-killing drug and as soon as it had time to take effect the patients would be asked if they continued to suffer.

When they answered that they had no pain the crowd would be informed where they could obtain the marvelous remedy, the students declared.

Hold Up American Goods.

Strong efforts, the students said, were being used to discredit American manufacturers by preventing prompt deliveries of American goods. They declared that tons of American goods which it was necessary to transship for China at Kobe were held there until time of delivery was past. The Chinese purchasers were then approached and told the Japanese could furnish these same goods immediately.

The marksmen on the American goods then were renewed according to the students, and the goods themselves forwarded without delay. No monetary profit was gained by the Japanese, the students claimed, as the goods were sold at the price named by the American shippers. When the shippers presented claims for damages the Japanese, it was declared, paid these claims without protest.

The object, the students explained, was to give the Chinese the impression that American firms were not to be depended on and that they would not keep faith, whereas the Japanese made deliveries as promised.

The students claimed that the Japanese had stifled competition in the iron mines of Shanghai through control of the railroad and failure to supply cars to mines other than those controlled by Japanese.

"Thirty Days' Notice" Strike Law Is Valid

Greaser, Colo., Oct. 25.—Validity of the state industrial law which makes it compulsory to give 28 days' notice before a strike can be called in Colorado has been upheld in a decision handed down by Judge George H. Bradford in district court here.

The decision was rendered by Judge Bradford in denying a motion to quash criminal information against George O. Johnston, former president of district No. 10, United Mine Workers of America, and Oliver Butler and Robert L. Loeck, local miners officials at Frederick and Puritan. The information charged the defendants with violating the state industrial law by calling a general strike of coal miners in November of last year, shortly after the nationwide coal strike had been called by international miners' officials.

On November 15, 1923, the day following the strike call, the state industrial commission ordered the union officials in Colorado to "withdraw, rescind and cancel" the strike order. The commission's order was disobeyed, following which criminal information was filed against the miners' leaders. The defendants were arrested and released on bond.

Counsel for the defendants held that neither the district court nor the industrial commission had jurisdiction in the premises. Judge Bradford ruled that both tribunals had ample jurisdiction, declaring that the call for the strike was in violation of public interest in that it involved the general suspension of coal mining at a time when fuel was one of the necessities of life. The court intimated that had the strike been called at only one mine, the interest of the public would not have been seriously jeopardized.

It is expected the miners' leaders will take an appeal to the state supreme court.

LEGION GIVES SUPPORT TO AMERICAN ARTISTS

The American committee of the department of Texas American legion is working out a plan which has for its object the creation of public opinion in favor of American singers and artists as distinguished from foreigners, as a result of instructions given to this committee by the state executive committee.

According to a statement made by Miss Florence Vopivska, of New York, a representative of the Music League of America, before a meeting of the state executive committee, hundreds of American artists, competent in every way, and on an equal plane, if not superior to many foreign artists, are without engagements because of the fact that they have plain American names, against which the unrelenting public appear to have some aversion.

Our customers, friends and the public of the lower valley in general are cordially invited to be present from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. Tuesday to receive full Western Union returns of the election.

Stolen Boy Back With Mother

AFTER a country-wide search of almost three years, Mrs. Teresa Morley has located her son Arthur, 12 years old. The boy was stolen December 3, 1917, by his father, according to information given the police. The young star was located in Newark, N. J., where he was attending school. Mrs. Morley went to that city and waited for the boy to leave school. At the sight of his mother he ran to her and asked to be taken home.

Love Lunacy Involves Nurses, Doctor And Too Puny Alimony

By THE POST.

TWO stories are being told about Bill Kane people and I repeat them for what they are worth. The first is that of a man with an East Side (N. Y.) accent who is said to have gone to a local hospital, though he was not ill, for the purpose of finding out whether patients had good opportunities to make love to nurses and if they had to try it himself.

After staying in a hospital two weeks the nurses decided he was entirely too tricky for a sick man and told the physician in charge of the ward. The physician admitted he had never been able to find anything the matter with the man and decided to take steps to get him out. Going to the patient one afternoon the physician said: "I am going to operate on you for appendicitis tomorrow if you are still here, and you are going to pay for it."
